Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time
3 July 2016

Packing a suit case can be a bit of a trial to get through. If you are like me, you spend most of the time thinking what you might need just in case, and trying to find space for all those things, in the hope that the check-in desk won't mind a pound or two extra.

And yet, if you see those going on treks on challenging terrain, the question for packing your bag is not what might I need, but how can I cut things down; what is the smallest I need to survive on. After all, anything more will just hold you back, weigh you down.

That is the advice that Jesus gives to those whom he sends out to all the places he himself was to visit. Carry no purse, no haversack, and no sandals. Don't take the things you think you might need because these will be the very things that burden you down, that hold you back. Just take what you do need and all else will be provided. All that is needed is the Word of God, Christ himself.

So often with the living out of our Christian faith we can burden ourselves down with too many things and end up losing what is important. As St Paul tells us today: 'The only thing I can boast about is the Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ'. Paul says many things don't matter, but what does matter is that 'we become an altogether new creature'.

Those who went out on that mission discovered that new strength, when they came back rejoicing. The message for us as well is to not always be looking to find what we think we need in life, but to discover anew what we do need, and that is Jesus Christ, our Lord, our friend, our guide.

Peter's Pence Collection

This week we support Pope Francis in his charitable works. The Peter's Pence Collection is taken up worldwide to support our brothers and sisters on the margins of society, including victims of war, oppression and natural disasters. In this Jubilee Year of Mercy, the collection is an opportunity to join with Pope Francis and be a witness of charity to our suffering brothers and sisters. This replaces the usual Share Collection.
